COVERED MILK WAGON STRUCK BY TROLLEY CAR. Peter Chabot and Son Eli Escape With Slight Injuries—Their Horse Killed.

Peter Chabot and his son Eli, aged 13, had a narrow escape from death about 7.25 Tuesday morning when the covered milk delivery wagon in which they were riding was struck by a southbound trolley car opposite the borough farm of which Mr. Chabot is the lessee.

Chabot's horse, a splendid gray animal, was killed and the wagon smashed to kindling wood. Mr. Chabot was buried beneath the wreck of the wagon while the son was thrown clear.

The father, who was on the left hand, an injury to his right arm, and had his back twisted so that it was giving him much pain later in the day, while the boy escaped with a bruised face and general shaking up.

The car was in charge of conductor Henry Brooks and Motorman Munroe.

Mr. Chabot says he did not hear the approaching car. His low-down, covered milk wagon made considerable noise when in motion. He also was proceeding southward after having made his morning round to customers and had just turned the horse on to the track to cross over to his farm, which runs right down to the street, when he first heard the whistle of the car, and an instant later came the crash.

At the car house in Dayville it was said that Motorman Munroe had sounded his whistle while coming down the grade, well above the Chabot place.

The horse was instantly killed, the crash from the wagon piercing it through. Mr. Chabot believes that there was no more than two chances in a hundred of himself and son escaping alive, and he is deeply thankful that their injuries are no worse.

The car came to a stop, Mr. Chabot says, about 200 feet from the place on the track where the collision occurred. The passengers on the car escaped without injury.

Mr. Chabot was taken soon after the crash to the office of Dr. F. P. Todd, where his injuries were given attention.

A great many visited the location of the wreck during the day. The horse remained where it had been killed. Out of 11 dozen milk bottles that were in the wagon when it was struck, only 24 remained unbroken.

H. B. Goodsell, pastor of the Congregational church at South Killingly.

Afternoon Game With Webster Called in Eighth Inning Because of Rain—State Department Chaplain Memorial Day Orator—Bousquet-Kenyon Marriage—City Promised Another Ball Team.

After seven innings of the Putnam-Webster game had been played at Webster Memorial day afternoon, the weather was called off on account of rain. The score then was 1 to 3 in favor of Webster.

STATE DEPARTMENT CHAPLAIN Memorial Day Orator—Fine Parade and Well Planned Exercises.

There was an impressive observance of Memorial day in Putnam May 30. At 10 a. m. the procession moved from G. A. R. hall on Pomfret street, under the command of W. B. Whittemore, marshal of the day, and proceeded to St. Mary's cemetery, where exercises were held, and where the graves of soldiers were adorned with flowers, as they had been with flags. The prayer and address at the cemetery was by Rev. Charles F. Bedard, pastor of St. Mary's parish. St. Mary's choir assisted at the cemetery service.

The procession included the members of A. G. Warner post, G. A. R., George W. Child camp, 3 of W. Spanish War Veterans, A. G. Warner, W. R. C., Caroline Scott Harrison circle, Ladies of the G. A. R., Putnam Catholic band, clergy and citizens, a platoon of police acting as escort.

At noon the W. R. C. served dinner in Odd Fellows' hall to 125.

At 1 o'clock the line was again formed in Union square and moved to Grove street cemetery, where prayer was offered by Rev. C. J. Harriman and the graves of soldiers were decorated. The address of the day was delivered here by Rev. William F. Hilton, state department chaplain of the G. A. R., and it was pronounced one of the best Memorial day addresses ever heard in this city.

Returning from Grove street cemetery, exercises were conducted at the Soldiers' monument by the members of the Sons of Veterans. Flowers were placed on the plot by members of the Woman's Relief corps.

While Memorial exercises were being held in the city in the morning similar functions were being conducted elsewhere in the vicinity, notably in the towns of Thompson and Pomfret, where the exercises were attended by a large number of people.

Traffic Officer Needed Tuesday. Superintendent John McGuire was on duty at Eugene's corner Memorial day as traffic officer—and he had a busy time of it. There was, of course, a host of machines buzzing about, many of them in charge of drivers not accustomed to being regulated as to their methods of proceeding through the city streets. In steering these straight at the Four Points, Officer McGuire needed to be watching four ways at once, but he handled his job in an able manner and demonstrated in an impressive way that a traffic officer for the place where he was stationed is just the thing.

There were some drivers who had to be spoken to about following the routes pointed out to them and many had to be broken of their habit of running by starting trolley cars.

During the day, along with his many other duties, Officer McGuire found time to pass out a large number of copies of the common council automobile traffic regulations, adopted last summer.

A Quiet Holiday. Putnam had a real quiet Memorial day. Many who remained in the city found pleasure in attending the ball games, of which there were three during the day, and during the afternoon, which was slightly showery, the theatre was a popular attraction. The police found the holiday very free from all kinds of disturbance. The streets in the business section were almost deserted during a greater part of the day.

L. O. Williams was a visitor in Niantic Memorial day.

Raymond Gilpatrick of New Britain was a visitor with relatives here Tuesday.

Special Officers Welch and Gagnon were on duty at the ball grounds on Tuesday.

Another Ball Team Promised. It was announced here Tuesday that Putnam is to have another ball team, composed mostly of Putnam players. Fred L'Heureux is promoting the team. Many from this city were at Wildwood park Memorial day. P. J. Sheridan is again manager of the park for the 1916 season.

Some freight trains were run through this city Tuesday, but the number was much reduced from the normal total.

Ball at Country Club. Many rounds of golf were played by members of the Putnam Country club Memorial day, morning and afternoon, and refreshments were served at the clubhouse by a special committee.

New Members Campaign. Alexander Gilman, Harry C. Melnik, Omer J. Milot and William E. Davidson, as a special committee of the organization, are soon to start their campaign for new members of the Putnam Chamber of Commerce.

Not discouraged by the defeat suffered by the Putnam team at the morning game in this city, many fans followed the team for the afternoon game at Webster Memorial day.

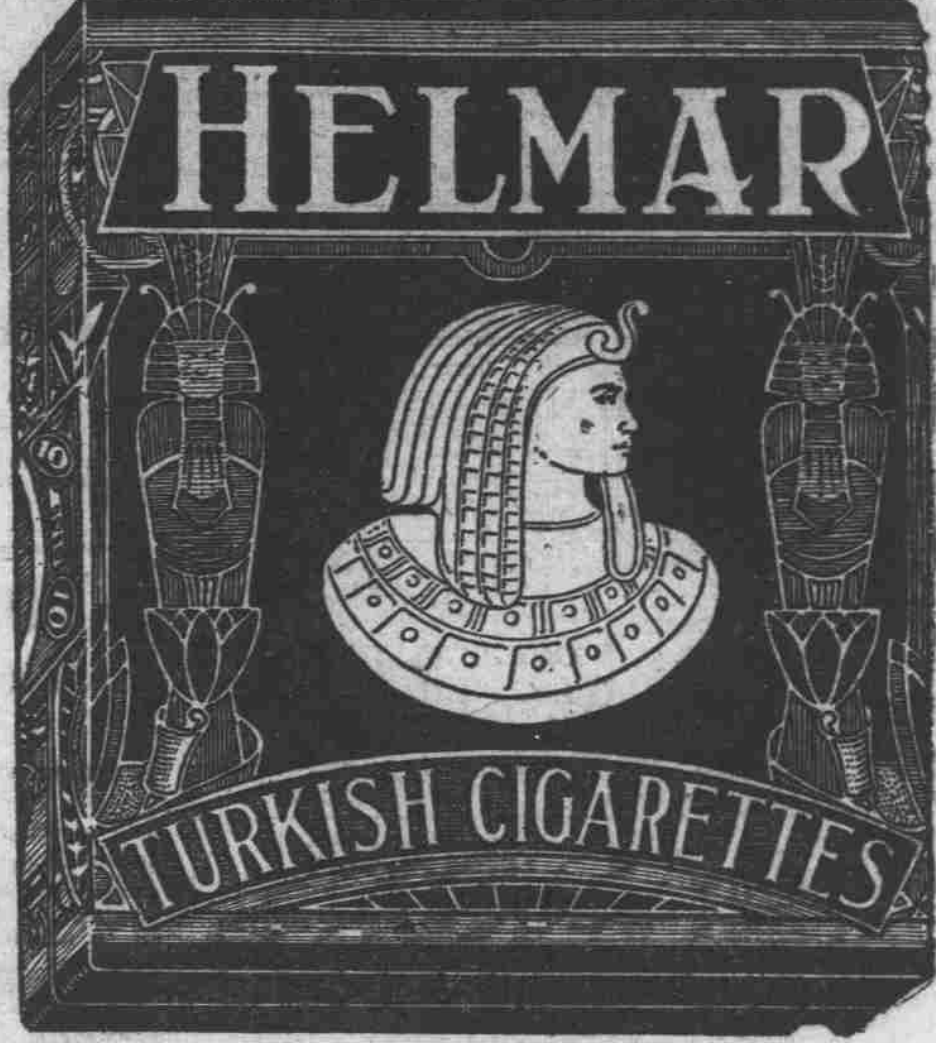

Mills in this section continue to seek for new operatives. To attract them into this section advertising is being done in big city dailies that have a circulation in woolen and worsted mill territory.

A big touring car, bearing a Massachusetts registration, "three" a tire as it swung into Front street from Elm street Tuesday afternoon, but the car was not intended for this purpose, but for persons travelling along the streets to throw waste materials into the gutter.

Cans Improperly Used. The members of the Junior Chautauqua, in town here, to say the least, interested in the manner in which the litter cans they recently bought and located in the business section are being used with refuse from men. The cans were not intended for this purpose, but for persons travelling along the streets to throw waste materials into the gutter.
